MAKING JOINT ALL DOMAIN COMMAND & CONTROL A REALITY

ACHIEVE SITUATIONAL AWARENESS AND REAL-TIME COLLABORATION: Leaders and Innovators Present

The requirement to provide the warfighter with a clear view of the modern battlespace is driving the development of Joint All Domain Command and Control (JADC2). This initiative will tie information from a wide range of sources and sensors across domains (air, sea, space, land, cyber) into a unified C2 environment that links all service branches and increases the speed and accuracy with which commanders can make decisions.

Thinklogical is proud to be the Platinum Sponsor of the JADC2 and All Domain Warfare Symposium, organized by the National Defense Industry Association (NDIA), being held online Oct. 27-28. This new event brings together thought leaders and innovators from government and industry to collaborate on ways all-domain warfare can shape the future force.

This symposium is a paid fee event open to DoD and federal government, industry, and academia. Participation is free to active duty military. LEARN MORE
